

Sayngee Weeks

Sayngee Weeks, College of West Africa graduate, class of 1985. Sayngee comes from a long line of foxes; her late mother is a CWA graduate, class of 1950, and she is the last of six children, all of whom are foxes.

Sayngee is a Supply Chain Logistics professional with twenty-five years of project management experience. As a Sr. Business Systems Analyst, she is responsible for blueprinting and designing system solutions to achieve the organization's and its trading partner's strategic business objectives.

She currently serves as the second secretary on the CWA Global Alumni Association's transition team. Sayngee also serves as Board Chair of the Weeks Educational and Social Advocacy Project whose mission is to increase access to better education opportunities, expand social development, improve health care in needy communities, and safeguard human dignity.

In addition to serving her community, Sayngee enjoys travel and has visited five out of seven continents. Riding the 3.5-mile gondola cable car at 110 feet to see the Tian Tan Buddha statue in Lantau Island, Hong Kong, scuba diving the world's second largest barrier reef off Roatan, Honduras, dog sledding atop Norris Glacier in Juneau, Alaska, and ziplining Sasquatch in Whistler, CA are a few notable travel mentions.
